

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY
WASHINGTON DC 20310-0200

26 MAR 2007

MEMORANDUM FOR SEE DISTRIBUTION

SUBJECT: Deployment Cycle Support (DCS) Directive

1. The Army is dedicated to the safety and well-being of its Soldiers, Department of the Army (DA) civilians, and families. Soldiers have responded in an exemplary manner to the Global War on Terrorism. Active Army (AA), Reserve Components (RC), DA civilians, and families, have clearly answered the Nation's call to duty. The sacrifices of America's Army have not gone unnoticed. Therefore, the Army is placing greater emphasis on the reconstitution of Soldiers, DA civilians, and families within the context of the entire deployment cycle. Based on lessons learned from previous deployments, the Army recognizes a critical need for all deploying Soldiers and DA civilians to be provided the opportunity and a means for personal reconstitution, family reunion/reintegration, and reestablishment of personal readiness.
2. To fulfill this critical requirement, the Army will conduct DCS operations for all personnel deployed away from home station for 90 days or more. The objective of DCS is to assist the Total Army Family in their reintegration to predeployment environments.
3. All levels of command will be involved to ensure DCS requirements are accomplished and documented. The DCS Directive applies to all AA and RC Soldiers, DA civilians, and their families.
4. The Deputy Chief of Staff, G -1 is the staff agent for DCS policy.

Deployment Cycle Support (DCS) Policy Guidance

1. Background.

a. In 2002-2003, the Deputy Chief of Staff, G - 3 formed a Tiger Team to review the effects of stress caused by deployments with the goal to mitigate the adverse effects associated with extended deployments. This review was in direct response to the incidents of domestic violence which had occurred in 2002 following the return of Soldiers from extended deployments to Afghanistan. The Tiger Team identified the requirement to increase the emphasis on successful reintegration of Soldiers, DA civilians, and families into pre-conflict environments. In March 2003, the Deputy Chief of Staff, G - 3 identified the emerging nature of DCS as a personnel coordination requirement, and responsibility shifted from the G - 3 to the G -1. The G -1 conducted a DCS Conference with key staff agencies and Army Command representatives at Fort Bragg in April 2003, and on 2 May 2003, the DCS CONPLAN was approved, which was the genesis of the current DCS process.

b. Deployment Cycle Support (DCS) is a comprehensive process that ensures Soldiers, DA civilians and their families are better prepared and sustained throughout deployments. It provides a means to identify Soldiers, DA civilians, and families who may need assistance with the challenges inherent to extended deployments. Personal reconstitution for Soldiers is both Commanders' and Sergeants' business, and the Army must provide the right tools and training to execute the mission. The goal of the DCS process is to facilitate Soldier, DA civilian and family well-being throughout the deployment cycle. The Army will disseminate this Directive to leaders at all levels. All levels of command will be involved to ensure DCS requirements are accomplished and documented. The DCS Directive applies to all Active Army (AA) and Reserve Components (RC) Soldiers, DA civilians, and their families.

c. The Deputy Chief of Staff, G -1 is the staff agent for DCS policy. All Soldiers deployed away from home station for 90 days or more will complete the DCS process. Services for DA civilians and families are integrated in every stage of the process, and they are highly encouraged to take advantage of the resources provided.

d. This Directive is predicated upon several key assumptions. The key assumptions are:

(1) The majority of deployments will exceed 90 days.

(2) RC units and individual RC Soldiers will return to their pre-deployment reserve status as effectively and efficiently as possible, consistent with mission accomplishment.

(3) Soldiers may permanently change station (PCS) or reach expiration term of service (ETS) prior to completion of the DCS process with their deployed unit.

Deployment Cycle Support (DCS) Policy Guidance

(4) External demands (e.g., congressional, media, DoD leadership) and internal demands (e.g., spouses, family members, local commands) will place additional requirements on the DCS process.

(5) The Army will make key transformation initiatives such as Army Force Generation and Force Stabilization operational, requiring further review of existing policies and processes governing the human dimension of readiness.

2. Implementation.

a. The Army conducts DCS operations for Soldiers and DA civilians who are deployed for 90 days or more to mitigate the stressors associated with extended deployments. DCS operations include Soldiers departing theater on emergency leave, R&R, and medical evacuation.

b. All Soldiers will undergo DCS tasks within the respective phases of the deployment cycle. Commanders are responsible for ensuring Soldiers complete DCS tasks and documentation of tasks. Supporting units, agencies, and staffs must provide necessary assistance to units and / or eligible individuals to accomplish DCS tasks during the appropriate phases of the deployment cycle.

c. All levels of command must be involved to ensure DCS tasks are accomplished and documented for all Soldiers, including Army personnel deploying or deployed with other services. The DCS process takes place concurrently for Soldiers at deployed locations, CONUS Replacement Centers (CRC), mobilization (MOB) / demobilization (DEMOB) stations, and at the home station for families.

d. The gaining command is responsible for DCS tasks not completed for newly assigned and returning Soldiers and their families.

e. In accordance with AR 600-20, paragraph 5-10, family members of DA civilians are included in Army family programs; therefore, both Soldier and DA civilian family members are authorized and encouraged to attend briefings, training, counseling, and other services identified by the DCS process.

f. DA civilians deployed overseas and their family members may use Military OneSource services during the period of deployment and for up to 180 days after return to home station.

g. There are seven stages to the DCS process which support the deployment cycle by emphasizing the human dimension of readiness. The stages, modeled off the force projection process, are:

(1) Train-up / Preparation. Units complete the reset actions and begin to enter the traditional training cycle. Individual and collective training and readiness activities drive this stage. During the Train-up / Preparation stage, DCS tasks consisting of personnel administrative actions, briefings, training, counseling, and medical evaluations are completed to ensure all Soldiers, DA civilians, and their families are prepared for extended deployments.

(2) Mobilization. Units or individuals are alerted for possible deployment and undergo preparation. During the mobilization stage, DCS tasks consisting of administrative actions, briefings, training, counseling, and medical evaluations are completed to ensure all Soldiers and their families are prepared for extended deployments.

(3) Deployment. Units or individuals deploy from the CONUS or OCONUS installations into the designated theater. Recurring administrative actions are completed during the deployment stage.

(4) Employment. During the employment stage, units or individuals perform their assigned mission in theater for a prescribed period of time. Employment stage tasks include recurring administrative actions and briefings, training, and counseling for Soldiers departing theater on emergency leave, R&R, and medical evacuation.

(5) Redeployment. Units / individuals reposture in-theater; transfer forces and materiel to support other operational requirements; or return personnel, equipment, and materiel to the home station or DEMOB station. The redeployment stage continues the process of reintegrating Soldiers and DA civilians into their predeployment environments. Redeployment stage tasks include administrative actions, briefings, training, and counseling for Soldiers and DA civilians departing theater and family members at home station.

(a) DCS redeployment stage tasks for Soldiers and DA civilians should be accomplished in theater. Commanders are responsible to ensure those tasks not completed in the redeployment stage are completed in the post-deployment stage. All individuals departing theater will have DCS checklist in their possession.

(b) During the redeployment stage, the first O-5 in the chain of command will certify that the unit and / or eligible individuals have completed DCS tasks.

(c) In addition to theater redeployment activities, DCS identifies tasks to be accomplished at home station. The successful reunion of families depends on proper preparation, including briefings, training, and counseling for spouse and family members. Reception activities (e.g., parades and picnics) should occur for redeploying Soldiers and DA civilians. Family Readiness Groups (FRGs), community agencies, and employers should participate.

(6) Post-Deployment. Personnel, equipment, and materiel arrive at home station, CRC or DEMOB station. The post-deployment stage consists of administrative actions, briefings, training, counseling, and medical evaluations to facilitate the successful reintegration of Soldiers and DA civilians into their families and communities.

(7) Reconstitution. Soldiers and DA civilians are reintegrated into their families, communities, and civilian jobs. The reconstitution stage begins after completing post-deployment recovery and administrative requirements. Administrative actions, briefings, training, counseling, and medical evaluations are completed during the reconstitution stage.

h. The DCS tasks are listed in ANNEX A, Deployment Cycle Support Tasks to the DCS Directive, and outlines the guidance for unit and individual requirements and family activities.

i. The DCS Checklist is listed in ANNEX B, DA Form 7631, MAR 2007, Deployment Cycle Support (DCS) Checklist identifies the tasks that must be accomplished in each stage of the DCS process.

j. The Commander's Validation Memorandum to the DCS Directive is listed in ANNEX C and illustrates the certification required upon completion of redeployment stage tasks.

3. Resources.

a. Training tools are available on the DCS website at <http://www.armyg1.army.mil/dcs/default.asp>.

b. Applicable regulations and forms can be found on the <http://www.usapa.army.mil>.

4. Authority. In accordance with AR 25-30, para 2-2, 27 March 2006, The Army Publishing Program, Department of the Army directives are policy and information memorandums issued by the Secretary of the Army to impart immediate policy, changes to policy, guidance or procedures. DA directives apply Army-wide. They are permanent and remain in effect until superseded or rescinded by the Secretary of the Army. If policy, guidance, or procedures issued in a DA directive conflicts with policy or guidance in existing departmental publications, the DA Directive takes precedence and the proponent is responsible for initiating a revision to the publication to ensure compliance with DA directives.
